

In England, it is estimated that one in six adults suffers from poor mental health and mental health services are under increasing pressure to meet demand for care. Our mental health theme develops and tests ways to deliver better care with patients, their families and the clinicians who treat them.

Watch a short film introducing this CLAHRC research theme featuring Theme Lead Professor Peter Fonagy