

Research Matters: Changing lives in east London and beyond

Each year, the International Clinical Trials Day is celebrated around the world on or near the 20th of May in order to celebrate the day that James Lind started his famous trial on the 20th of May 1747.

On Wednesday 24 May this year, Barts Health NHS Trust (in association with Queen Mary University of London (QMUL) and Barts and the London School of Medicine and Dentistry) will be hosting Research Matters event as part of the annual celebration of International Clinical Trials Day. This programme will feature talks from award-winning academics and clinicians, patients and others, to showcase the high quality clinical research taking place within Barts Health hospitals. For the full programme and to register your place:

<https://researchmatters2017.eventbrite.co.uk>

There will also be a number of additional activities taking place in May in support of International Clinical Trials Day. Look out for information stalls at Barts Health hospitals, where you will have a chance to talk directly to research staff and learn more about ways you can get involved in clinical research. For more information see:

www.bartshealth.nhs.uk/takepart

Speakers

Opening and closing address

Alwen Williams

Chief Executive, Barts Health NHS Trust

Public involvement in women's health research – Katie's Team

Jahnvi Daru

Clinical Research Fellow,
Women's Health Research Unit, QMUL

Research and clinical trials in Clinical Support Services: Clinical radiology, pathology, clinical physics and therapies

Anju Sahdev

CAG Director for Research and Education, Clinical Support Services, Barts Health NHS Trust

PPI and MS Research: Innovations for service development

Alison Thomson

Lecturer in Public Engagement and Patient Public Involvement, QMUL

A glimpse at the future - life sciences at Barts Health

Rakesh Uppal

Director of Life Sciences,
Barts Health NHS Trust

Improving outcomes in trauma haemorrhage

Professor Karim Brohi

Professor of Trauma Services, QMUL, and Consultant Trauma and Vascular Surgeon,
Barts Health NHS Trust

Event date: Wednesday 24 May 2017

Event time: 5pm until 6.30pm, followed by drinks reception (approx. 1hr)

Event registration: <https://researchmatters2017.eventbrite.co.uk>

Formal invitation to Research Matters